RECIPE FOR THE HALLOWEEN SEASON

Ingredients:

- 1 cup butter, softened
- 1 cup Domino® or C&H® Pure Cane Powdered Sugar
- 1 egg
- 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
- 1 teaspoon almond extract
- 2-3/4 cups all-purpose flour
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- 1 teaspoon salt
- Red decorating gel
- 1/2 cup sliced almonds

Directions:

In a large bowl, cream butter and sugar. Beat in the egg and extracts. Combine the flour, baking powder and salt; gradually add to the creamed mixture. Divide dough into fourths. Cover and refrigerate for 30 minutes or until easy to handle. Working with one piece of dough at a time, roll into 1-in. balls. Shape balls into 3-in. x 1/2-in. fingers. Using the flat tip of a table knife, make an indentation on one end of each for fingernail. With a knife, make three slashes in the middle of each finger for knuckle. Place 2 in. apart on lightly greased baking sheets. Bake at 325° for 20-25 minutes or until lightly browned. Cool for 3 minutes. Squeeze a small amount of red gel on nail bed; press a sliced almond over gel for nail, allowing gel to ooze around nail. Remove to wire racks to cool. Yield: about 5 dozen cookies.

HARVEST FESTIVAL 2009

Harvest Festival is an event that supports the local economy by stamping cards for shoppers for every $10.00 spent. When they reach $50.00 on a card they can fill it out and turn it into the chamber office where they will be entered into a drawing for $500.00. This event took place on October 16th & 17th, right around the drop of the dividends creating more of an opportunity to purchase the things that they wanted. There were sales on everything from Halloween candy to furniture. The Chamber office was the drop off location for the tickets. In the Chamber you could find Mabel's baked and jarred goods, Candlelite, Local Art, and Avon. The local businesses have commented on how the event helped boost their sales in a slow time for shopping. Tickets sales ended at 1253 tickets and the winner was James Rolland. The Chamber would like to thank all the local businesses and individuals that participated in Harvest Festival and help make it possible every year! We are always happy to hear from our community so if you have any questions or comments on this event contact the chamber office at 907-874-3901.

The Chamber 50/50 raffle ended at $ 266.00 with Glenna Ellis winning $133.00 and the next drawing will take place on 11/25/2009.

In the garden, Autumn is, indeed the crowning glory of the year, bringing us the fruition of months of thought and care and toil. And at no season, save perhaps in daffodil time, do we get such superb color effects as from August to November.

Mission Statement

The mission of the Wrangell Chamber of Commerce, Inc. shall be:

To advance all of the business, professional, civic and cultural interests of the City of Wrangell as well as regional, state and national interests under the democratic system of free competitive enterprise:

To encourage the growth of existing business activities while giving all proper assistance to any new firms or individuals seeking residence in Wrangell and its environs;

To support activities believed to be beneficial to the community and its citizens and to oppose those which might be detrimental;

To speak for the Chamber's members in city, state and national legislative and governmental matters, while avoiding partisan politics;

To encourage development of surrounding industrial properties;

To cultivate alliance and business relationships with neighboring communities; and in general to promote the welfare of all Wrangell area citizens, following always those policies intended to accomplish the greatest good for the greatest number.

In order to best achieve these goals, the following by-laws have been adopted to govern the procedures and activities of the Wrangell Chamber of Commerce,

Inc. and of its membership.

TIPS FOR WEATHERIZING YOUR HOUSE AND SAVING MONEY

1. Get an energy Audit

The audit will assess the home's energy performance and recommend long-term solutions. "Try to get an assessment from somebody who can look at the whole picture, not just windows or insulation, and give you a complete view."

2. Find the Leaks

Air leaks, or drafts, are the biggest culprits behind high energy bills. "Your principal source of heat loss is the ceiling plane," Its recommended to make sure pull-down attic stairwells are weather stripped and sealing up any leaks around attic skylights and vent pipes. It's also worthwhile to seal gaps around electrical outlets and windows and check out less obvious places such as a hatch to an attic crawl space hidden in a closet. "Finding the big holes will give you more bang for the buck, but basic weather-stripping is still good."

3. Service the heating system

About 20 percent of the air moving through a typical house's heating system is lost because of leaky ducts, according to Energy Star. A full system inspection and servicing, including duct sealing, could easily add up to more than $2,000, so do it yourself if you can. At a minimum, replace the air filter.

4. Set back the dial

If you leave the house for a while, turn down the thermostat. Setting back temperatures as little as five to eight degrees, with either manual or programmable thermostats, can save almost 10 percent a year in heating bills.

5. Insulate the water heater

If the water heater is in an unheated space, such as the garage or a utility shed, wrapping it in a blanket and insulating the water pipes could add up to small savings.

6. Last but not least address safety

"Any time you do weatherization, you do air-sealing or add insulation, you are changing the dynamics of what goes on in the house," That means air pressures will change and may cause back drafts in oil- or gas-fueled appliances, so service them to avoid risks of carbon monoxide poisoning. Carbon monoxide detectors are also inexpensive and can save lives.
